

Free Training Opportunity

Course # G 272

Warning & Coordination

March 13-14, 2023

8:00 AM to 4:30 PM

Winterset Public Library

123 N 2nd St

Winterset, IA 50273

Course Description:

This program addresses warning coordination for weather- or flooding-related events. It provides training to help facilitate the process whereby State, local, tribal, and territorial officials responsible for warning coordination and communication work closely with the National Weather Service (NWS) and the news media to provide effective warnings that can be received and understood by people at risk. The effective coordination of these warnings is paramount to saving lives and protecting property.

Target Audience:

A wide variety of partners for this course includes state, local, tribal, and territorial government emergency program managers, or officials responsible for coordination and communication. The secondary audience includes federal emergency management personnel and employees of Federal, State, local, tribal and territorial governments who work in the emergency management field.

Additional Information:

- 1) Parking is on the street located next to the library.
- 2) Meals will be on your own, adequate time will be provided. Food locations are around the square one block away.
- 3) This multi-day course is supported with Homeland Security Grant Program (HSGP) funding. You may request lodging reimbursement if you traveled an excess of 50 miles one-way and an Iowa resident.

- Prior to start of class, email your lodging reimbursement request to HSEMDTraining@iowa.gov limited to the first 5 registrants who respond prior to start of class.
- All other travel will be on your own if the above doesn't apply or requested.

Please follow the current CDC guidelines, and if you feel ill, have a temperature, or have a sore throat, stay home.

Prerequisites:

NONE, however we recommend: IS 271, IS 247

Register at: <https://eoc.iowa.gov/training/calddetails.aspx?eventid=1463&courseid=239>

Facility questions: Dio Ayala, 515-462-4255, Dayala@madisoncounty.iowa.gov

Registration questions: HSEMDTraining@iowa.gov

